When they kiss...they switch bodies!!!

Story so far

Kohanamaru's family has a bizarre genetic mutation that causes them to switch bodies with their fated partner (i.e., the person they are destined to be with forever). The fated partner will be the person who first touches the part of the body that allows them to transform. For Kohanamaru, it's his lips! Through a clumsy and chaotic sequence of events, Nanao becomes his fated partner, they switch bodies, and the two can't transform back unless they kiss again. And rumor has it that if they don't switch back by sunset, they stay like that forever! What's going to happen to these two?!

Konatsu Taki

Kohanamaru's twin brother. It was thought that he was the only member of the family without any supernatural abilities, but it turns out that he may have the power to return people to their bodies when they can no longer do it themselves.
